Mr. C. A. Wells.

Dear Sir.

It has occurred to me that it would be well enough to remind you that General Grant did me full justice in connection with the battle of Monocacy. In his official report of 1865, he states distinctly, that by the battle he was enabled to get troops to Washington in time to save that city from capture. In your article upon the subject you should not omit noticing that part of General G.'s report. It is a substantial acknowledgment that I saved the city.

Very truly, yours,

Gen. Wallace.
